Cayetano Garza, Jr. is, first and foremost, an artist. His nationally acclaimed webcomics (Magic Inkwell, Cuentos de la Frontera, Whimville) have thrilled viewers and elevated the art form since 1996. In the trade, he is considered a pioneer and trendsetter. This, too, can be said of his burgeoning music career. The grassroots way he blends lyric and melody is both sweet and rendering; allowing the listener to simultaneously enjoy the moment and latch on to deeper threads of meaning and theme.

Ruth Whiddon is, and always will be, a teacher. Second grade educator by day --- pop-rock violinist by night! She trained for decades as a classical violinist, only to see her true calling in college. Three years ago, the band NaCl (Salt) asked her to cameo for their all-Spanish album 'Que Diablos', and she quickly became a fan-favorite. In SUMMERMILK, however, Ruth has finally hit her stride as her soulful performance not only supports the efforts of Cayetano, but lifts the songs to places most listeners never knew existed.
